

Business Structure

Purchases

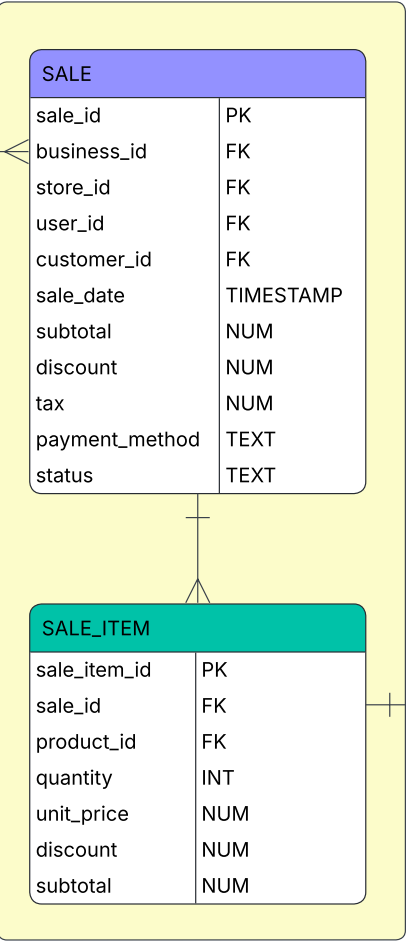

Every purchase creates an inventory movement

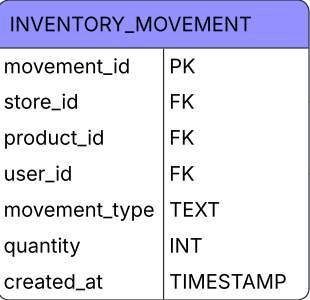

There can be other types of product movement such as transfers between stores or expired products

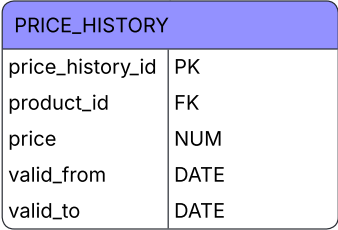

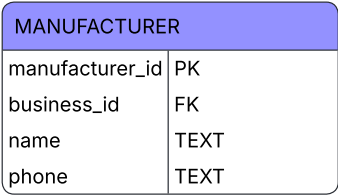

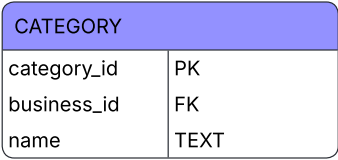

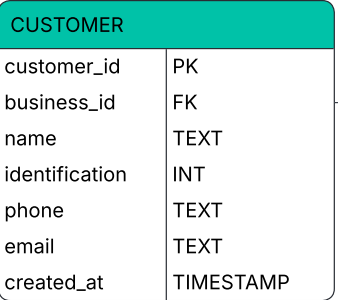

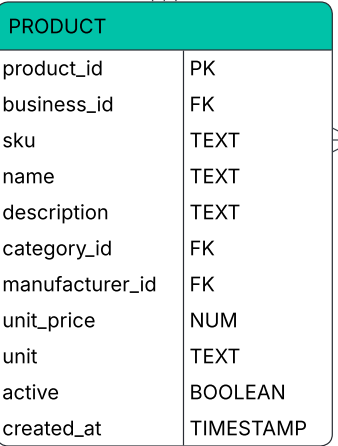

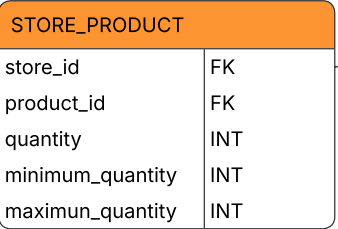

Sales

Every sale creates an inventory movement

Every inventory movement updates the store product

Every time a price changes, it creates a new entry in price_history